Germans Admit Losses at Neuville, but Report Gains

Elsewhere.

There is direct contradiction in the reports to-day from Paris and Bortin. Paris claims the repulse of attacks at St. Georges, but this is not mentioned by Berlin, While Paris says the village of Carrency is being bombarded from three sides. Berlin says all attacks were repulsed, and that 800 prisoners were taken.

Capture of trenches by the French at Neuville is admitted by Berlin. Paris announces the repulse of four counter attacks in the neighborhood of Lens.
